TG Issues New Edition of School Fact Sheets About Texas Colleges, Lenders

Round Rock, TX —TG has issued its latest edition of TG's School Fact Sheets, an all-inclusive publication about Texas educational institutions of higher learning.

The publication includes pertinent information about Texas two- and four-year public and private institutions and proprietary schools, key data about the schools, the lenders they work with, and the students they serve — including demographics, typical federal student loan debt loads, cohort default rates and loan volume information, which includes the new GRAD PLUS program.

The School Fact Sheets are available in both an interactive html version and a printer-ready PDF format. The html version provides a list of every TG lender providing Federal Family Education Loan Program (FFELP) student loans at a given school with helpful links to each Lender Fact Sheet. These lender lists within the School Fact Sheets report fiscal year to date loan volume at a particular school and are updated monthly.

"We are pleased to offer this information to help the higher education and lending communities," said Jeff Webster, TG assistant vice president for research and analytical services. "The feedback we receive consistently indicates that schools, lenders, legislators, and others find the information relevant and useful in helping them understand the costs of higher education in Texas."

The School Fact Sheets include data from TG, the U.S. departments of Education, Agriculture, and Housing and Urban Development, the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board, the Independent Colleges and Universities of Texas, Texas Legislative Council, and various other sources.

The School Fact Sheets can be found at www.tgslc.org by going to "Schools" and selecting "School Fact Sheets" under the "More Resources" category. Printed copies of the four-volume School Fact Sheets are available upon request.
